Curriculum Sheets, Catalog, and Spring 2027 Schedule Edits- IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Updates to the current catalog, curriculum sheets for the 2026-2027 academic year, and the Spring 2027 schedule will begin soon. Our office will send three separate emails- one for catalog revisions, one for curriculum sheet updates, and one for Spring 2027 schedule edits- each containing detailed instructions for completing the required changes. Deans, chairs, and directors are asked to review these messages carefully, reach out with any questions about the process, and plan ahead to ensure all departmental edits are completed and submitted by March 1.

These updates are a essential to ensure that students, advisors and faculty have accurate academic information. Please double check all updates for accuracy, as once the information goes live, it will be visible to students and advisors who rely on it for advising. Making corrections after publication can be difficult and should be avoided.

COMING FALL 2026– A SMARTER WAY TO PLAN, REGISTER, AND ADVISE

We're excited to share that the university will introduce Stellic in Fall 2026—a new academic planning and advising platform designed to make the advising process more seamless for both students, advisors, and faculty. Stellic allows students to visualize degree requirements, plan courses, track progress toward graduation, and manage their academic journey in an intuitive digital environment. For advisors and faculty, Stellic offers powerful tools to enhance advising, support student success, and improve collaboration across departments. And by providing students and advisors with real-time insights and a clearer view of each student's academic pathway, Stellic will help ensure timely progress toward degree completion and more informed decision-making. Although Stellic won't officially launch until Fall 2026, we'll share regular updates, training opportunities, and detailed information in the months ahead to ensure everyone is well prepared. We're looking forward to working with you as we introduce this exciting new resource.
